

ThePencilLine.com

This Pencil Line project makes an online gallery of drawings relating to train travel. All images submitted will be shown on our gallery and some will also be selected to be made into two downloadable eBooks and posters to advertise the project.

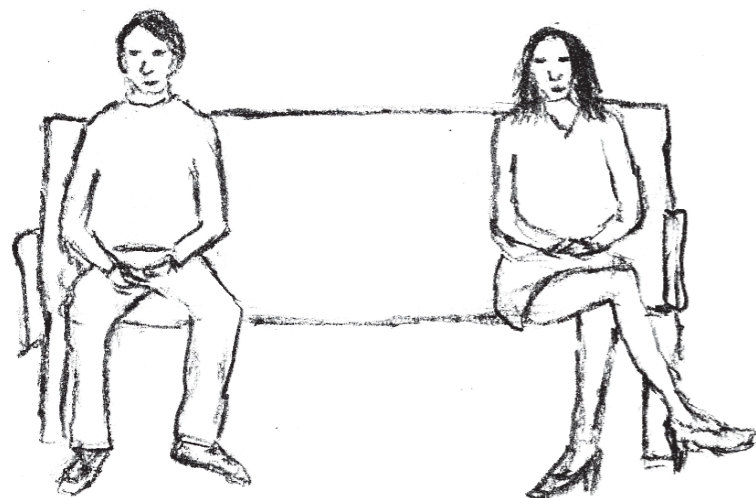

Please make a drawing in the box on the next page, with the pencil provided. Your drawing can be about anything: perhaps the reason for your journey, the scenery around you, something about your destination, or perhaps those travelling with you.

How does train travel make you feel? Be brave and share it with us! Part of the beauty of drawing is that it is different to photography. Drawings do not need to look true to life, we want your views rather than perfect lifelike drawings. Please make strong marks with the pencil as this helps us to reproduce the image to its best quality.

After you have finished please leave your drawing to be collected or hand it to West Coast Trains LTD staff. You can also take a photo of your drawing with your phone and email it directly to us at drawings@ThePencilLine.com. Please leave your name in the box provided, or feel free to remain anonymous if you wish. You can also write a short title or caption for your drawing in the box provided, and contact details in case your drawing is selected for the eBook or poster competition. We need a wide range of drawings from adults and children, from those who haven't picked up a pencil since school to experienced artists: there is a place for all of us.

Please make strong marks with the pencil as this helps us to reproduce the image to its best quality. Pencil sharpeners/spare paper and pencils are held by train staff, so please ask if you need one.

Your drawing will appear in less than two weeks.
All images will be shown on our online gallery ThePencilLine.com provided their content is not offensive to any person or groups of people. In submitting a drawing you are giving permission for it to be used on our website, posters, West Coast Trains LTD marketing / advertising or entry into one of our two editions of eBooks, downloadable from April 2015.
